

People want to read, nap, are on their way to meetings and want to prepare. It would be an utter disaster. I think people would drive somewhere rather than fly if cell phones were allowed on planes.